Hello!

Welcome to this set of Enrichment activities for Photography.

This presentation contains a series of practical and theory based activities that will hopefully develop your understanding of photography.

There are proven connections between enrichment activities and academic success. Enrichment promotes critical thinking and problem solving skills, improves your ability to concentrate, and makes learning more meaningful, valuable, and rewarding. Enrichment activities are designed to be fun, which will help you to become more engaged in your learning and retain more information.

ACTIVITY ONE

Objects at home
Below are a list of photographers' names and a range of works recording household objects.
Click on the NAMES to find out more about the artist/photographer and their interests.
Present your findings in your InDesign portfolio.
The next few slides show you possible layout designs.

LAYOUT EXAMPLE 5

ACTIVITY 2

Photograph objects from multiple viewpoints inspired by Cubism;

ACTIVITY 3

Playing with scale and space - arrange objects in your viewfinder that might appear to touch, balance or interact in unexpected ways when 'flattened' through your lens.

ACTIVITY 4

Make a sculpture with printed images AND/OR choosing objects (plastic containers, for example) that can be flattened and photographed in interesting illusionary ways.
